Community Notes

The image shows a screenshot of a tweet on Twitter. The tweet is from a user named 'dane' (@buckadeath) posted on July 23. The tweet text is 'The Soviets beat the Nazis nearly singlehandedly' followed by a truncated URL 'twitter.com/yuanyi_z/statu...'. Below the tweet, there is a 'Community Note' section. It features a small icon of three people and the text 'Readers added context'. The context text reads: '"Even before the United States entered World War II in December 1941, America sent arms and equipment to the Soviet Union to help it defeat the Nazi invasion. Totaling $11.3 billion, or $180 billion in today's currency."' Below the context text is a truncated URL 'ru.usembassy.gov/world-war-ii-a...'. At the bottom of the note, there is a question 'Do you find this helpful?' and a button labeled 'Rate it'.

Problems with Community Notes

The image shows a screenshot of a tweet from Joe Biden (@JoeBiden) dated October 28. The tweet text is: "Under my watch, the economy has added nearly 700,000 manufacturing jobs. The last guy had a different track record." The tweet includes a video thumbnail with the text "2016 PROMISE" and "2017 BOEING & CARRIER FAILURE". Below the tweet is a community note, which is circled in red. The note is titled "Currently rated helpful" and states: "Finding: Somewhat true. According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, the country lost 182,000 manufacturing jobs under Trump. (during Covid) Under Biden, the country did add slightly under 700,000 manufacturing jobs, including over a quarter million this year alone." A link to a news article is provided: <https://www.newsnationnow.com/morninginamerica/fact-check-biden-on-inflation-gas-unemployment/>. At the bottom of the tweet, there is a poll asking "Is this note helpful?" with three options: "Yes", "Somewhat", and "No". The "No" option is currently selected.

How You Can Help

The screenshot displays the Twitter Community Notes interface. At the top, there are tabs for 'Needs your help', 'New', and 'Rated helpful'. A modal window is open in the center, featuring the Twitter bird logo and the text: 'Community Notes is a collaborative way to keep people better informed.' Below this, there are four numbered points: 1. Contributors are people like you. Anyone on Twitter whose account meets the eligibility criteria can sign up to help. 2. All contributors start with the ability to rate notes, and over time, can earn the ability to write. 3. Notes aren't chosen by majority rule. Community Notes identifies notes that are found helpful by and for people with different points of view. 4. Twitter doesn't choose what shows up: the people do. At the bottom of the modal is a 'Join Community Notes' button. To the right of the modal, a sidebar contains a 'Want to join Community Notes?' section with a 'Join' button, a 'Community Notes values' section with three bullet points: 'Contribute to build understanding', 'Act in good faith', and 'Be helpful, even to those who disagree', and a 'Feedback' section with a link to 'Send us a DM @CommunityNotes'. At the bottom of the sidebar, there are links for 'Terms of Service', 'Privacy Policy', 'Cookie Policy', 'Accessibility', and 'Ads info', along with a copyright notice for 2023 X Corp. The background shows a tweet with a profile picture and the start of a text message: 'This is so fucked up. They are not performing surgeries on kids. This is a fucking lie. What he is doing is straight fascist propaganda and Dan'.
